

It's easy to burn your fingers while ironing your quilt blocks.

Try wearing a leather thimble on the index finger of the hand you use to hold the fabric with.

The leather will protect your finger while you get the seam allowances lined up, and keep your finger from being burned by the steam from the iron.